

COVID-19 Update for UK Employees | 30/03/2021

Stay Safe and Alert This Easter

After the Government eased restrictions around meeting up with other households this Monday, we know many employees will be looking forward to the long Easter weekend.

Please remember that the virus is still a threat to all, especially those who are vulnerable. The global team has created a helpful infographic as a reminder (right and attached to this update) as well as a short video which can be accessed here.

The Government’s new message for all is Hands, Space, Face and Fresh Air so make sure you take that into consideration when meeting with others. Additionally, remember to follow the Four Behaviours that Save Lives, with particular emphasis on personal hygiene measures and physical distancing.

We hope you and your families enjoy a safe and happy Easter.

Virus and Vaccine Learning Pathway

A new learning pathway is now available from CEMEX University; providing information about what viruses are, how they affect living organisms and the different types of vaccines being developed to fight off viruses.

This pathway takes one hour but doesn’t need to be completed in one go. If you are interested in finding out more about viruses and vaccines, you can access the learning pathway here.

DURING EASTER HOLIDAYS
TAKE CARE OF YOUR LOVED ONES

The virus is still a threat to everyone, especially to those most vulnerable. Think about the risk of visiting your friends and family during this Easter season.

- If possible, celebrate the holiday with people from your home.
- Protect the most vulnerable people from contagion.
- If you are going to meet more people, be strict with self-care measures.
- Avoid large gatherings with family and friends – stick to Government guidelines.

THIS EASTER REMEMBER: HANDS, SPACE, FACE AND FRESH AIR
